

Stabilizing Self-Dynamic Socioeconomies: Evolutionary and Ecological Perspectives on Farming Economic Systems for Human Needs (Paperback)

By Dr Rodrick Wallace

Createspace, United States, 2011. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand .The creation of economic institutions that can function under the impact of substantial non-quantifiable risks is analogous to the dilemmas confronting our hunter-gatherer forefathers in the face of large-scale ecological uncertainties. The ultimate solution was not a super hunter-gatherer technology that could ride out repeated catastrophe, but the invention, in neolithic times, of culturally-adapted farmed ecosystems constructed to maximize food yield and minimize risks of famine. This book applies evolutionary and ecosystem theory to the design of culturally-specific farmed economies, recognizing the impossibility of a one-size-fits-all system. The tools used are powerful new statistical models abducted from Shannon s communication theory that are well-suited to data analysis.
