Reviews

The book is great and fantastic. It is written in straightforward words and phrases rather than difficult to understand. You won't really feel monotony at any time of your respective time (that's what catalogues are for regarding should you question me).

Not illustrated. 1880 Excerpt: . important, in our judgment, to the true interests of the College, my purpose is accomplished, and I will leave the floor to my friend Judge Warren, after thanking you for the kind attention with which you have honored me. Judge Warren was then called upon to respond for the class of 1830; of which he was class poet, a position held in the preceding class by Oliver Wendell Holmes. He referred to his pleasure of again following Dr. Holmes in regular order with a poem, and then read the poem printed below, which had been written by request of his classmates. 1830-1880. BY GEORGE W At last in turn our time has come To sing our fiftieth year, Since here we left our youth s fond home With recollections dear. Our alma mater bids us dine: The price we long since paid; We do not ask her old-time wine, We ll quaff her lemon-ade. We ve aged somewhat, since off we went, But she has younger grown; Near five half-centuries she has spent Where her blest lot was thrown. But wider far her star shall glitter. For every year she bears A fresh and still increasing liter--Ary fine flock of heirs. What buildings rise upon her green! Who knows her boundless store, Or where new halls to place between? Still, Praeses asks for more! The more we give, the more he ll want, For more will come to take; Then make him every wished-for grant,...
