In 2016 the general public and medical profession in The Netherlands were totally surprised by a television series that showed how the Dutch physician and bestselling author William Cortvriendt treated and cured a number of chronically ill people by changing their lifestyle. In his former bestseller, Living a Century or More, William laid down the scientific basis for those changes in lifestyle that have proven to prevent conditions and diseases such as obesity, heart attacks, diabetes and cancer. William accepted the challenge from the Dutch television media to not only prevent diseases with his lifestyle changes but to treat volunteers who were already suffering from existing chronic diseases. The results were spectacular! The participants lost weight instantly, elevated blood pressure came down, disturbed blood values for fats and cholesterol normalized, insulin-dependent diabetes disappeared and existing medication could be reduced. All participants reported a significant improvement in their general condition and level of energy and felt remarkably healthy again. Six million viewers witnessed in November and December 2016 the treatment and progress of William s interventions on Dutch television in a series named Hoe word ik 100 (How to reach age 100). TOTAL HEALTH RESET includes all advice and practical measures that led to these astonishing health improvements of previously chronically ill people. It is fantastic that William s book Total Health Reset makes this knowledge available.
